Happenings in and Around Frank

On Sunday night next, at Knox Methodist church, a memorial service will be held in memory of the late Richard Wilcox. Rev. W. T. Young will preach.

Rev. Mr. Buchanan, formerly of Wesley church, Lethbridge, paid a visit to Frank last week, and took part in the funeral services of the late Richard Wilcox.

"I was cured of diarrhoea by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes M.E. Gebhardt, Oriole, Pa. There is nothing better. For sale by all dealers.

W. Barrington Reilly, vice-president and managing director of the Rocky Mountain Cement Company, who had been holidaying at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium hotel, returned to Calgary during the week.

At the Sanatorium

The following registered at the Sanatorium hotel during the week: Wednesday—W. A. Cooper, H. E. Berry, Calgary; S. A. Williams, Lethbridge; D. F. McComb, Fernie; J. E. Woods, Pincher Creek.

Brown, Calgary; Jas. Buchanan, Cranbrook; Robert F. Long and wife, A. B. Johns and Thos. E. Yuill, Lethbridge; W. G. Kyce, Macleod; E. C. Sordal, Seattle, Wash.; J. E. Somers, Cardston.

A vast amount of ill health is due to impaired digestion. When the stomach fails to perform its functions properly the whole system becomes deranged. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets is all you need. They will strengthen your digestion, invigorate your strength, your bowels, entirely doing away with that miserable feeling due to faulty digestion. Try it. Many others have been permanently cured—why not you? For sale by all dealers.

Death of Mrs. Frank Wejr

A very sad death occurred in Frank hospital on Saturday last, when Mrs. Caroline Wejr, wife of Frank Wejr, passed away. While doing her regular housework a week ago last Saturday she was taken with a pain, and the doctor was called in; but in spite of all that human skill could do, her life could not be saved.

Mrs. Wejr was born in Bohemia, but had lived in Canada for some time. She leaves eight children to mourn the loss of a loving mother, the youngest of them not yet four months old.

The funeral took place on Monday, Rev. W. T. Young conducted the service at the house, after which a large crowd followed the remains to the Blairmore cemetery.

"We are all medicines as meritorious as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, the world could be the and the percentage of suffering greatly decreased," writes Ludesay Scott, of Temple, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

Notes From Burns

Quite a number of the boys took in a fishing trip to the South Fork this week and brought home some nice catches.

E. C. Dunkerton, representing the well known firm of Holey & Co. of Lincoln, England, boilermakers and engineers, was in town this week.

E. Morino has the foundation of the new hotel completed, and as soon as the masonry arrives, work will be rushed on this structure with all possible speed.

Prospecting work is going on at Mr. Parkers coal areas at Burns. The engineers representing the capitalists who have an option on this property, will arrive this month.

Uncle Billy has not up to date been able to find out who swiped the rooster, but he does know who has been pinching the eggs from his henery. Uncle says these were good eggs.

The Guzinks met again this week for the good of humanity, and the proceedings were full of interest.

Attention was drawn to the fact that Hillcrest had six of their players signed on for Blairmore with a view of assisting Blairmore to defeat Burns. We consider the behavior of the "Noble Six" in the matter of the Blairmore-Burns matter, as being despicable to a degree not hitherto known.

They richly merited the cold shoulder of the Blairmore players, and stand dishonored.

Blairmore were congratulated on their sportsmanship, and although we would have welcomed the win, we feel that we lost to team of honorable men. Our only regret is, that Blairmore's win should go so favorably to Hillcrest the disgrace.

Concern was expressed over the Natural Gas Scheme, we fancy that the Hillcrest correspondent is maintaining a golden silence (very much golden) as he is disgusted with the methods adopted by the team he has hitherto championed.

Beard's Camp correspondent is to be extended our thanks for his special report sent in the Cathedral and we love to have the pleasure of his company there, as he himself was made a Guzink some short time ago, and the Order anticipate decorating him with a badge of honor, on that occasion.

Jane is becoming well known down town, as "the blonde" is "McDougall," he of the magnificence. "The Order" regrets to note that Jane was unable to make the winsome ladies of the telephone gang "two-the-line." Oh! Jane Oh! Jane you pretty Jane! How is it, you have been "dished" again!

All members of the Order of Guzinks are advised to keep out of the Pincher Creek.

For thorough and systematic management of affairs, the Order desire to draw interested parties' attention to the Blairmore F. C. working committee.

We wish to draw Mr. O'Brien's attention to the following item, that: The bridge over the Old Man River at Burns, still continues to be in the hands of the Department.

Owing to the silence of the Hillcrest correspondent, natural gas shares have suffered a decline and now stand at 26.40. Borden wires us from Europe, that all that is necessary to put the Rainbow and Niobe amongst first-class cruisers, is a good supply of Burns oil.

The meeting was brought to a close to the musical strains of the new song, "How to be Sporty," dedicated to the "Noble Six" of Hillcrest.

Hillcrest Happenings

We regret to state that the recently born son of Mr. and Mrs. John Modison died last Friday evening. The little boy was only a week old and the sympathies of all are tendered the parents in their bereavement.

The Orangemen turned out in force last Sunday to church. Decorated with their sashes and collars, they made an imposing array as they marched through the principal streets to the church. This lodge is by far the strongest in Hillcrest, numbering some fifty members, and apart from their number, their enthusiasm makes them a body to be admired.

Our new offices on Davis Street are now completed and we shall be pleased to welcome our numerous friends—Guzinks not excluded—whenever they can call around. To find us, take the first to the right off Main Street, then ring for the usher in the five-story brick building half a block up. This building is stated to be as sound and substantial as the writings and advice of that Solomon of Solomon, Mr. President of Guzinktown, but we have to compare its solidity with that genial fellow's figure head.

It is officially denied that the head quarters of the Natural Gas Syndicate will be in Hillcrest. Although we regret that our town is not to have this new industry, we are charitable enough to hope that though Hillcrest is to be ignored the project will not fall through. There are several small towns around that would greatly benefit were the scheme carried through, and we trust that the financiers interested may be induced to make further investigations before they abandon all hopes of finding gas in paying quantities in The Pas.

Happenings in and Around Bellevue

Miss Brenda Cooper, of Cowley, is visiting Mrs. Humble.

Mr. Steve Humble is holding down his ranch on the South Fork.

The foundations are completed for the new hotel at Maple Leaf.

Mr. J. B. Rudd and his son Guskie are on the ranch at Maple Leaf.

The primary school opened on Monday with Miss Rogers in charge.

W. J. Cole has opened a soda fountain in connection with his business.

Mr. J. Haynor is in the grocery business in Cranbrook and is doing well.

Rev. R. J. Irwin left on Saturday to take up his work on Flamburn mission.

Excavating for the Union Bank building is progressing slowly owing to the rocky ground.

Rev. T. C. Hutcheon, superintendent of Methodist missions in Alberta, passed through on Friday.

The Rambler's Club are camping at Crow's Nest Lake in charge of Chiefs Irwin and Raynor.

Hughie Hutton met with a nasty accident in the mine last week in which his eye was badly cut.

Lightning struck the large fan on Thursday last and mining operations were suspended for a day as a result.

Miss Nellie Robinson, of Calgary, who has been visiting in the camp for a week, returned home on Monday.

We are pleased to see that Master Dick Stone is able to be around on Crows' Nest Lake after being laid up with a broken leg.

The marriage of Mr. James Marshall to one of the Pincher Creek belles took place last week. Congratulations abound on every side.

The local mine is working three shifts a day and are putting on a large number of men. They are said to be putting out about 1000 tons of coal per day.

Mr. Irwin returned from a trip to British Columbia last week. During his absence he visited the summer schools in the east and west Kootenay districts, where he delivered courses of lectures on Social and Moral Reform.

Rev. J. B. Francis and wife of Calgary, who have just returned from an extended honeymoon trip, visited the camp on Wednesday last, and Mr. Francis received the congratulations of many of his old friends. He resumed his work at Crescent Heights Methodist church, Calgary on Sunday.

Freddie Beale and Louis Briano intend to put conclusions again and will put on a boxing contest for the featherweight championship of Western Canada on the night of Labor Day, Monday, September 2. Judging by the interest manifested in the last bout, the coming event will be interesting.

The proprietor of the Union Hotel at Hillcrest, H. J. Cunningham, has recently turned the business over to a Mr. Mier, of Lethbridge. Mr. Cunningham and family left town last Thursday evening, and his going makes a gap in the social and sporting life of the town that it will be found very hard to fill. Only in Hillcrest less than two years, Hughie was always the first in banking any project for sport or fun and at the time of his leaving filled the position of president of the Southern Alberta Football League. He was well known in all the surrounding towns and his numerous friends trust that the Duke made an even bigger success of life from now on than he did as the host of the most popular hostelry in the Crows' Nest Pass.

There is a movement on foot to form a rifle club in Hillcrest. Some two dozen young men around town have signified their intention of joining the proposed club, provided the expenses of running the same can be kept within a reasonable limit. A communication has been sent to the Minister of Militia at Ottawa, asking for information regarding the grant of rifles and ammunition made in case of this kind and upon receipt of an answer a meeting will be held to talk the matter over fully. There are several well known riflemen in town who are willing to take hold of the teaching of green men, and with an entry fee of about five dollars there is no reason why the club should not be a success.

PSORIASIS WAS CURED

After Five Years of Suffering—
Three Doctors Failed and Bald
Case Was Incurable

Itching and Burning Was Terrible Until Relief and Cure Was Effectuated by

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Psoriasis is another name for chronic eczema. It is the worst form of this dreadful skin disease. Once eczema has reached this stage it is usually considered incurable.

But here is a case which proves again the wonderful healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Not only does relief come quickly, but the resulting benefits are thorough and lasting.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Concession, Ont. wrote: "I thought it my duty to write you telling you that I had received from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For five years I suffered with what doctors told me was psoriasis. I had tried every cure for $50.00 to keep my money in my pocket, as I could not get any other cure.

The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head. The itching and burning was hard to bear. At last my brother read in the paper about Dr. Chase's Ointment as a healer. I used it before I had heard of it. I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise the ointment enough, and I am at liberty to use my testimony, as I hope thereby to induce other sufferers to try the ointment.

THE BLESSING OF MOTHERHOOD

Healthy Mothers and Children Make Happy Homes

Motherhood is woman's highest sphere in life. It is the fruition of her dearest hopes and greatest desire; yet thousands of noble women through some disarrangement have denied this blessing.

In many homes once children there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

This is evidenced by the following letters which are genuine and truthful:

London, Ont.—"I wish to thank you for the benefit I received by taking your cure."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was born in me. I was so ill I could not stand long or walk any distance. I had to lie down nearly all the time. After I took your medicine
I felt like a new woman. I could work from morning till night and was happy and well. I certainly think it relieves pain at childbirth and recommends it to every woman who is pregnant. You may use this testimonial if you like. It may help many other women. Lydia E. Pinkham, Canton, 132 Adelaide St., London, Ont.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I was all the time and did not know what the matter was. I wanted a baby but my health would not permit it. I was nervous, my side ached and I was all run down. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good and took the medicine. I have now a beautiful baby and my Compound has helped me in every way."—Mrs. J. A. Stewart, 229 Hundolls St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

TO CONSERVE MOISTURE

Written by E. B. House, Engineer
Colorado Experiment Station, Fort Collins, Colorado.

It is a well known fact that ground which is kept loose on top will evaporate much less water than a soil which is packed on top. The moisture which escapes into the air is absolutely lost so far as the plants growing in that particular field are concerned, and if it is not replaced to hold this moisture in the ground so that it may reach the roots of the growing crop, it is of course the thing to strive for, and will prove a benefit to the plant growing in the field.

Some years ago, one of the representatives from the Agricultural College was visiting an up-to-date farmer in the country, and the farmer showed him a field of wheat which illustrated this harvesting in a remarkable manner.

A storm had passed over that section of the country and about one and a half inches of rain had fallen. It had been a dashing shower and had not been followed by anything considerable. The grain was from four to six inches high, and the farmer said that it was the best he had seen to prevent evaporation. He sent his hired man to do the work, who hitched up to the large grain drill and directly across the field of wheat, and then around the outside of the field to the large grain drill.

hired man to do the work, who hitched

rectly across the field of wheat, and

field to the large grain drill.

50,000 Unsold War Medals

In two large strong rooms at Wool-wich Dockyard, Woolwich, Eng., are stored nearly 50,000 unsold South African medals. Each is engraved with the name of the man to whom it was awarded. These men are not now with the colors, but a staff of clerks and a department armed with medals lists and regimental records are endeavoring to trace them.

Many of these lost legion are irregulars who broke out to the British colors when war broke out, but who have since become scattered all over the world. One young man, for instance, after the war, went prospecting in the interior. He turned up recently in Capetown after an absence of nearly ten years and asked for his medal. It was given him. Similar demands are received nearly every week.

Hundreds of medals have been requested in regimental lists since 1904.
At the end of ten years, according to the King's regulations, those not claimed will be broken up and the silver melted to the mint. Many have refused the medal on the ground that it is "too cheap." Three quarters of a million of the medals have been struck—a fact which may have been lightly regarded.

But these South African awards are not the only medals at Woolwich awaiting claimants. There are 4,000 medals of the Crimean War, and the Zulu medals of 1879, and also seven medals presented by the British South African Company for the Cape campaign of 1846.

There are also medals for the Cape and Indian Mutiny medals are still many. On an average about one million medals are given away every year, while the war office bestows on the Crimean medals a year and replaces about ten thousand.

Contents of a Man

An average man of 150 pounds contains the constituents found in 1,200 eggs. There is enough gas in him to fill a balloon of 3,645 cubic feet.
The iron in him would make four teaspoonful nails. His hair would make 21 candles and a good-sized cake of soap. His phosphate contents would make 8,064 boxes of matches. There is enough hydrogen in him, in combination to fill a balloon and carry him above the clouds.

The remaining constituents would yield six teaspoonful of salt, a bowl of sugar, and ten gallons of water.
The foregoing analysis is made by the Practical Druggist, which adds that a man has 500 muscles, about 1,000,000 cells, 200 bones, 4 gallons arteries and veins, more than 25 feet
of intestine, and millions of pores.
His heart weighs from 8 to 12 ounces, its capacity is from 4 to 6 ounces in each ventricle, and its size is 5 by 3 by 3-1/2 inches. It pumps 1-1/2 pounds of blood every minute, 16 tons in every 24 hours, about 5,540 tons a year, in a fully developed healthy adult. It beats about 72 times a minute.

The change of dietary that comes with spring and summer has the effect in West London of selling the inflammation, resulting in dysentery and cholera morbus. The abnormal condition will continue if not attended to and will cause an exhaustive drain on the system. The best available medicine is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It clears the stomach and bowels of morbid contents, counteracts the inflammation and restores the organs to healthy action.

Manager Wives

A well known doctor, who claims that Canadian motherhood is the highest type in the world, was asked if this was not partly due to the unusual amount of responsibility—the Canadian husband allows his wife in family affairs.

Quite true, the doctor replied. The confidence her husband places in her makes the Canadian mother capable and self-reliant. The mother's share in her family's success or failure is a large one—much larger, indeed, than most men will acknowledge.

I see by the papers a friend once said to me, that Footlights is traveling under his wife's management.
So do not, my friend, I replied, but don't advertise it.

But why do you order a buldog?
enquired the waiter.

To eat the steak, sir, replied the colonel.—Clarendon Enquirer

PROGRESS OF CREMATION

Over Four Hundred Cremations at Montreal

The British Medical Journal in a recent article on the progress of cremation gives figures showing the growth of this method of disposing of the dead in Europe.

The total number of cremations in Great Britain during 1911 was 1,922, which shows an increase of 177 as compared with 1910. Since the opening of the crematorium in 1885, there have been 9,984 cremations in Great Britain. At the present time there are 15 crematoriums in Germany, six of which started operations last year. A law has been recently passed permitting cremations in Prussia.

In Switzerland there are now ten crematoriums, three of which belong to the municipalities of Basel, Geneva and Zurich. There were 1,210 cremations in Switzerland in 1910.

There are about forty crematoriums in the United States, twenty-eight of which are in France, and one in Sweden and Norway, two in Russia, one in Denmark, and one in Montreal, Canada.

The beautiful crematorium in Mount Royal cemetery at Montreal was opened in 1905 and up to the close of 1911, 401 cremations took place there.

Pretty Smart Work

Residents in rival cities, Jones and Brown, were competing for the best of their respective homes. Jones took the fire brigade, said Jones, after four hours' heated discussion. You know, the other day a fire broke out in our town, and within three minutes the fire engine was on the spot. It was going so fast that the driver couldn't pull up till he was a mile past the house.

Brown smiled in a superior fashion.

The dear fellow, that's nothing, he said. One day two men were working on a church spire in my city.
The men were working on the spire and a terrible draft would have been blown, only fortunately, a spectator had noticed the danger and had called the fire brigade on the telephone, and they came just in time to catch him in a blanket.

Extermination of Rats and Mice

If it were generally known that there is no trouble to rid a house, barn or any building of rats and mice by the use of Gillett's Lye, it is doubtful if the article of Gillett's Lye would be used for this purpose alone.

The process connected with using it is so simple that a man can do it in a few minutes. It is so simple that it can be done by a child. It is so simple that it can be done by a child.

In addition to this it is well to use this piece of board about a foot square and will be burned and the complete circle of the Lye on the board about a quarter of an inch deep, and inside the circle the Lye will be used.

The foreman of the Lye is made by the Practical Druggist, which adds
that a man has 500 muscles, about 1,000,000 cells, 200 bones, 4 gallons
arteries and veins, more than 25 feet
of intestine, and millions of pores.
His heart weighs from 8 to 12 ounces,

The Wedding Gift

The husband of a certain suburb were greatly scared by the advent amongst them of a fearful monster of the name of "The Wedding Gift."

After throwing each of the bachelors into a state of terror, lest he should be the recipient of her attentions, the lady finally captured the curate.

Local bachelordom was no intensely relieved at its escape that it united in presenting the curate with a splendid wedding present. The curate of the curate was overwhelmed. "Such a magnificent gift," he gasped.

"Well, you see, my boy," exclaimed the chief of the local bachelors, it is really our thanksgiving service.

The Home Investment

We have received a communication, anonymously, bearing upon the subject of labor and commercial conditions of Blairmore and other towns of The Pass, and commenting among other things on the idea of local agents boosting for other towns all over this province and every other province, and practically forgetting altogether the interests of the town from which they expect to reap the bulk of their livelihood

We may enter any local office and find the walls posted with blue-prints of towns on the prairie or in the fruit regions of British Columbia, and windows decorated with scarfs to attract the eyes of the honest toiler to a supposed-to-be means of investment that promises to return him a hundred fold. Hundreds of people have been attracted by these outside propositions and some who a short time since were induced to invest their little savings in ten-to-twenty-mile-distant suburbs of Calgary and other cities are today reeling the day and are unable to provide amply for their homes and their children.

We go to outside cities and find that agencies are boosting among other towns of The Pass, and some outside capital (a small amount of course) is being invested in The Pass real estate through the medium of outside agencies.

Here in the towns of The Pass are offered better inducements for investment than ever a prairie town can boast of. We have not to depend upon the weather to ensure a good harvest; but right at our doors our natural resources are giving continual labor to all comers and the supply of raw material is sufficient to last a thousand years.

Savings invested in real estate of the home towns is in most cases a sure investment—at all events to see what he is buying. An outside proposition is often made, setting forth the location and elevation of the land as desirable; but after the deal is put through and the purchaser pays a visit of inspection to that vicinity he invariably has to borrow a step-ladder to approach the summit of some of the hummocks and hills that adorn his purchase.

It is good policy to favor the home town in preference to any outside propositions. It is had policy to seek to send cash for investment out of town, which really belongs to the community in which it is earned.

Boost for the home town and you boost for its citizens, and in so doing it is reasonable to expect that the citizens will turn around and assist the local agency.

sire to thank all those who sent ment.

BOWSER'S UNCLE.

Welcomed to the Bosom of the Family.

TALE OF RETIRING IKE HARRIS.

As a Long Last Relative on His Mother's Side the Stranger Does Not Score a Conspicuous Success, but in Other Respects—

By M. QUAD.
(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

THAT Mr. Bowser had news of some kind to communicate when he reached home the other evening was plain to be read in his face, and after he had got seated at the dinner table he said:

"One of the strangest things that ever happened to me occurred today."

"I hope you didn't buy a chicken farm," replied Mrs. Bowser.

"I was taking my noonday lunch when a man came in that I knew and called me by name. I noticed an old man sitting near by pick up his arms and look at me, and two or three times before I went out he seemed bent to speak to me."

"Yes?"

"I had been back at the office about half an hour when he came in."

"And wanted to borrow $5," added Mrs. Bowser.

"Mrs. B. is Sarcastic."

"Woman, if you are going to begin your sarcasm I don't say another word. Why do you suppose he wanted to borrow $5? What right have you to suppose any such blarney thing?"

"Well, don't just happen again. It's an insult on me. The man begged my pardon and wanted to know if he had

"I'll be my life against a nickel that my uncle Ike is ready for him, and you might dream a little. I want him to see that I selected a dandy for a wife."

An Unpromising Exterior.

At 9 o'clock the doorbell rang, and Uncle Ike was admitted and guided back to the sitting room. From what Mr. Bowser had said Mrs. Bowser was prepared to see an Uncle Burs, and she was not disappointed.

"Then you are a brother of Hannah's," said Mrs. Bowser.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Mr. Bowser's mother was not named Hannah, but Mary. Uncle Ike had been married to her."

"Where were the other brothers?"

"Two others—Sam and Bill."

Some New Family History.

She knew, and so did Mr. Bowser, that there was only one brother. Lie No. 2 had been told.

"What has become of Mr. Bowser's mother's sisters? There were two, I believe."

"Yes—Sarah and Ruth. Both are dead."

"The mother had no sisters. That was the No. 3, and Mr. Bowser looked at his Uncle Ike in astonishment."

"I suppose you remember the old farmhouse as vividly as if you had seen it yesterday."

"Indeed I do."

The old farmhouse wasn't red at all, but white. The law was getting along swimmingly. Mr. Bowser didn't exactly think he was lying, but laid it to loss of memory instead. Five or six times he gave Mrs. Bowser the wink to stop the cross examination, and when she persisted he said she might be excused for a time. She left the room satisfied that Uncle Ike was a fraud, but what he was for further than to borrow money she could not make out. While she wrestled with the problem the uncle was saying to Mr. Bowser:

"Nice wife you have."

"Thanks."

"Good looking and keen."

"Yes."

"But she don't like me."

"Oh, it's just her way. She don't take to strangers at first. In two or three days you'll be visiting like old friends."

Uncle Ike Retires.

Uncle Ike observed that he had had a long day of it and was tired out, and he said to Mrs. Bowser:

"When the Bowers were alone she said: 'Look out for your Uncle Ike!'"

"What do you mean?"

"He's trying to borrow money in the morning."

"Woman, I thank heaven I haven't your nature."

"He's no more your Uncle Ike than I'm your Aunt Jerusha."

"Stop! Stop right there."

Mrs. Bowser stopped. She stopped till about 2 o'clock in the morning. Then she returned from a trip downstairs and shook Mr. Bowser awake to say:

"What was that?"

"Because your Uncle Ike has taken a state."

"Don't say that."

"And robbed the house of everything he could take with him!"

Sometimes Hard to Credit.

Everything in this world is of some use, although some of the inhabitants seem to be exceptions to the rule—Puck.

After a Record.

Whenever on one of his rare holidays Captain Goldie went to the city he took some young relative with him as a special treat. On one such occasion he told his seventeen-year-old grandson, whom he had with him, that they would "dine at a real restaurant and get a taste of fancy cooking."

When they were at last seated in the great dining room the grandson waited impatiently while the captain read the bill of fare completely through without omitting a single article, while the boy, who was sitting next to him, at last he signed and handed the card across the table to the boy.

"You choose what you like, sonny," he said with a sigh. "As for me, I reckon as I've already eat more here than any other man I've had, I might as well allow a little more."

They agreed with no so far—Yoda's Companion.

One Way Out.

A leading advocate of bigger pensions went on for nearly a year getting a pension for an Ohio woman. Her husband, an old soldier, had been away from home for years. Nobody had heard from him for years, but the evidence all indicated that he was dead, and the pension was granted. Just about the time the woman got her first payment the friend received a letter from her, saying:

"My husband has just returned home. What shall I do?"

The letter was returned with these words scrawled on the bottom:

"Kill him!—Everybody's Magazine."

BLUNDERS LINKED WITH WIT.

All Nations Mix Metaphors and Perpetrate Self Contradictory Figures of Speech, but the Emerald Isle Holds the Prize For Point and Vigor.

In "Balls, Ancient and Modern," J. O. Percy, the author, contrasts the English and Irish variety to the advantage of the latter. Although the most diverting bulls are usually flattered upon Irishmen, they are not by any means a monopoly. All nations mix metaphors and fall into self-contradictory blunders. Englishmen make bulls probably just as often as Irishmen, but there is a difference. English ones are seldom amusing. The Irish ones almost always are.

Mr. Gladstone never lifted at Irish blood in his veins, yet he was warned on M. P. that it was no use for him "to shake his head in the teeth of his own words."

Mr. Balfour has spoken of "an empty vessel of unpopularity and audacity." Lord Randolph Churchill referred to an item of national credit as "a mere fern life in the ocean of sea urchins."

It would pay better to carry third class passengers for nothing rather than let the railways get them.

Why is it, then, that bulls are supposed to be native to Ireland? It can hardly be for the reason that they are supposed to take their name from a certain Obediah Bull, an Irishman, who practiced in London during the eighteenth century. Mr. Percy accepts this derivation, though there is another which relates the name with the traditional remark of the timid woman who was "afraid to cross a field full of cows in case one of them might be a bull."

FIRST AMERICAN FLAG.

Some Unwritten History.

From the House of Representatives.

There is a story that has come through from Chicago's Hull-Romney. Miss Adams suggested to the chairman of the committee that they write a play about the life of the group. She gave them suggestions as to the necessity for a climax at the close of each act—a climax which would carry on the interest. They decided to write a play about "The First American Flag." The first act curtain went down on a group scene showing George Washington surrounded by his generals.

"Yes, George," said General George Washington to his chiefs of staff, "let it be that we ain't got no flag?"

"Yes, George," said General George Washington to his chiefs of staff, "let it be that we ain't got no flag?"

Charged With An Attempt To Kill

Jack Carroll Is Arraigned At Taber On Serious Charge

Jack Carroll, the one-time proprietor of a hotel at Taber, and later conducting the Alberta hotel at Blairmore, is in the hands of the police at Taber, on the charge of attempting to kill H. F. Annable, a real estate man of that town.

Carroll forced his way into Annable's house, and finding him in bed, ordered him to get up and defend himself, as he (Carroll) intended to kill him. Fortunately for Annable, his housekeeper happened to be around, and engaged Carroll in conversation while he (Annable) made good his escape.

The police were informed immediately and Carroll was arrested, having in his possession a fully-loaded revolver. He came up for preliminary hearing on the charge of attempted murder, and was remanded till Wednesday.

Carroll was fairly well known throughout this part of The Crow's Nest Pass, particularly by those who had dealings with him; and the outcome of the present case will be watched with more than ordinary interest.

Donald but a few months ago, and the loss is a heavy one.

Those desirous of observing the Christmas season by the old time method of sending green cards to their friends, would do well to call at the office of the "Enterprise" and make an early selection. Samples just in.

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Wegr, which took place at the Blairmore cemetery on Monday afternoon, was largely attended. The Bohemian band took a place in the procession and rendered some pleasing selections. Rev. W. T. Young conducted the burial service.

See the big bills announcing the big championship bout to take place at the Blairmore opera house Saturday night. Both Jim Burrows and Tommy Tavelia have good records, and there is no doubt but that the attendance at the opera house Saturday night will exceed that of any former occasion.
